SUPPLEMENT

Davy Long Term Growth Fund

Dated 2 December 2016

1 IMPORTANT INFORMATION

The Directors (whose names appear under the heading "Management of the Company – Directors" in the Prospectus), accept responsibility for the information contained in this Supplement and the Prospectus. To the best of the knowledge and belief of the Directors (who have taken all reasonable care to ensure that such is the case) the information contained in this Supplement and in the Prospectus is in accordance with the facts and does not omit anything likely to affect the import of such information. The Directors accept responsibility accordingly.

Shareholders should note that all the fees and expenses of the Fund may be charged to the capital of the Fund. Thus on redemption of holdings shareholders may not receive back the full amount invested and this will have the effect of lowering the capital value of the shareholders investment.

Shareholders should note that dividends will be paid out of capital, therefore capital may be eroded, distribution is achieved by forgoing the potential for future capital growth and this cycle may continue until all capital is depleted.

This Supplement contains information relating specifically to Davy Long Term Growth Fund (the "Fund"), a Fund of Davy Funds p.l.c. (the "Company"), an open-ended umbrella fund with segregated liability between sub-funds authorised by the Central Bank as a UCITS pursuant to the Regulations.

The Fund may invest more than 20% of its Net Asset Value in other collective investment schemes.

This Supplement forms part of and should be read in the context of and in conjunction with the Prospectus for the Company dated 2 December 2016 (the "Prospectus").

The Fund is suitable for investors who are prepared to accept a high level of volatility.

An investment in the Fund should not constitute a substantial proportion of an investment portfolio and may not be appropriate for all investors

As the price of Shares in each Fund may fall as well as rise, the Company shall not be a suitable investment for an investor who cannot sustain a loss on their investment.

The Fund may invest in Financial Derivative Instruments ("FDI") for currency hedging and efficient portfolio management purposes. (See "Borrowing and Leverage; Leverage" below for details of the leverage effect of investing in FDI).

3 INFORMATION ON THE FUND

3.1 Investment Objective, Investment Policies and Investment Strategy

(a) Investment Objectives:

The investment objective of the Fund is to seek total returns with an emphasis on long term growth but with the potential for some degree of income generation.

There can be no assurance that the Fund will achieve its investment objective.

(b) Investment Policies:

The Fund intends to achieve its investment objective by primarily investing in a diversified portfolio of authorised open-ended UCITS and alternative investment funds ("CIS"). In respect of the investment in such CIS, the Fund will at all times comply with the provisions of the Regulations and the Central Bank Rules in respect of any investments in the CIS. The CIS that the Fund may invest in will be authorised as UCITS or alternative investment funds, consist of regulated schemes which may be domiciled in a member state of the EEA, the U.S., Jersey, Guernsey or the Isle of Man (in accordance with the provisions of Central Bank Guidance on UCITS Acceptable Investment Other Funds).

The CIS will invest principally in equity securities and fixed income securities on a global basis. The CIS will invest in a diversified portfolio of equities with a focus on growth companies which show predictable and regular long term growth in earnings and in a range of both sovereign and non-sovereign fixed income securities (i.e. corporate bonds) denominated in multiple currencies. The CIS will typically be domiciled in Ireland, the United Kingdom and Luxembourg. The Fund may also invest in CIS with exposure to the following asset classes: money market instruments, property, private equity, absolute return funds, managed futures and hedge funds.

The asset allocation strategy may be altered by the Investment Manager on a monthly basis or more frequently to take into account changes in the expected risk and correlations of the underlying asset classes.

While the Fund is a fund of funds, it may also invest, in direct securities for short term liquidity or defensive purposes should the Fund require such liquidity or protection against significant market movements. Such securities can include but are not limited to direct cash, deposits, money market instruments including certificates of deposit, commercial paper and fixed and floating Investment-Grade government and corporate bonds and transferable securities that are listed or traded on a recognised exchange set out in Appendix II of the Prospectus and subject to the investment restrictions set out under the heading "Investment Restrictions" in the Prospectus.

The Fund may also use Financial Derivative Instruments for efficient portfolio management and currency hedging purposes as described in section 3.2 below.

(c) Investment Strategy:

The investment strategy involves a two stage process which aims to generate returns consistent with the investment objective of the Fund.

The first stage of the investment process is to determine the asset allocation. The Investment Manager will determine an appropriate asset allocation through rigorous analysis of asset class characteristics and risk return profiles.

The second stage of the investment process will be the selection of the underlying CIS through in depth qualitative reviews of fund managers and their investment process and quantitative analysis of their expected future risk / return profile to identify the most appropriate CIS, which in conjunction with the various other underlying funds, the Investment Manager believes is most closely aligned to the objective of the Fund. Through this analysis, the CIS are chosen by the Investment Manager on the basis of their investment strategies, trading techniques and overall performance record as against both their peer group and relative benchmark.

In selecting CIS for the Fund the Investment Manager regards an understanding of the underlying fund managers investment processes and methodologies as fundamental. An assessment of the quality of an investment organisation and the resources which it applies to investment management are also important factors in the Investment Manager's research process when selecting CIS.

3.2 Use of Derivatives and Efficient Portfolio Management Techniques

In addition, the Fund may engage in transactions in FDI for currency hedging and efficient portfolio management purposes and/or to protect against exchange risks within the conditions and limits laid down by the Central Bank from time to time. The Investment Manager will look to ensure that the techniques and instruments used are economically appropriate in that they will be realised in a cost-effective way. Such transactions may include foreign exchange transactions which alter the currency characteristics of transferable securities held by the Fund. Such techniques and instruments (details of which are outlined below) are options and forward foreign exchange contracts.

Options

An option contains the right to buy or sell a specific quantity of a specific asset at a fixed price at or before a specified future date. There are two forms of options: put or call options. Put options are contracts sold for a premium that give to the buyer the right, but not the obligation, to sell to the seller a specified quantity of a particular asset (or financial instrument) at a specified price. Call options are similar contracts sold for a premium that give the buyer the right, but not the obligation, to buy from the seller a specified quantity of a particular asset (or financial instrument) at a specified price. Options may also be cash-settled. The Fund may use such instruments to hedge against market risk or gain exposure to relevant underlying equity or equity related security. Any option entered into by the Fund will be in accordance with the limits prescribed by the law.

Forwards

Forward currency contracts could be used to hedge against currency risk that has resulted from assets held by the Fund that are not in the Base Currency. The Fund, may, for example, use forward currency contracts by selling forward a foreign currency against the Base Currency to protect the Fund from foreign exchange rate risk that has arisen from holding assets in that currency.

Direct and indirect operational costs and/or fees (which do not include hidden revenue) arising from use of FDIs for EPM purposes may be deducted from the revenue delivered to the Company. Such costs and/or fees are payable to the relevant counterparty to the FDI in question and such counterparty may or may not be related to the Investment Manager or the Depositary. All revenues generated from such FDIs, net of direct and indirect operational costs, will be returned to the Company.

Collateral or margin may be passed by the Fund to a counterparty or broker in respect of OTC FDI transaction. Please refer to the section of the Prospectus entitled "Collateral Policy" for further details.

The use of FDI and efficient portfolio management techniques for the purposes outlined above will expose the Fund to the risks disclosed under the section of the Prospectus entitled "Risk Factors".

3.3 Borrowing and Leverage

(a) Borrowing

The Company may only borrow on a temporary basis for the account of the Fund and the aggregate amount of such borrowings may not exceed 10% of the Net Asset Value of the Fund.

In accordance with the provisions of the Regulations, the Company may charge the assets of the Fund as security for borrowings of the Fund.

(b) Leverage

The Fund may utilise FDI as referred to in the section headed "Use of Derivatives and Efficient Portfolio Management Techniques" above. The Fund will use the commitment approach to measure market risk and calculate its exposures. The total expected level of leverage of the Fund as a result of its investments shall not exceed 100% of its Net Asset Value.

The Investment Manager does not expect the use of FDI to significantly increase the Fund's risk profile.

The expected level of leverage range is calculated based on the sum of the absolute value of notional of the derivatives used, in accordance with the requirements of the Central Bank. This figure does not take into account any netting and hedging arrangements that the Fund has in place at any time even though these netting and hedging arrangements are used for risk reduction purposes and is therefore not a risk-adjusted method of measuring leverage which means this figure is higher than it otherwise would be if such netting and hedging arrangements were taken into account. As these netting and hedging arrangements, if taken into account, may reduce the level of leverage, this calculation may not provide an accurate measure of the Fund's actual leverage position.

The Company on behalf of the Fund has filed with the Central Bank its risk management process which enables it to accurately measure, monitor and manage the various risks associated with the use of FDI. Any FDI not included in the risk management process will not be utilised until such time as a revised submission has been provided to the Central Bank. The Company will, on request, provide supplementary information to Shareholders relating to the risk management methods employed, including the quantitative limits that are applied and any recent developments in the risk and yield characteristics of the main categories of investments.

3.4 Investment Restrictions

Investors must note that the Company and the Fund adheres to the restrictions and requirements set out under the Regulations, as may be amended from time to time. These are set out in Appendix I to the Prospectus.

In particular, please note the following restrictions and requirements:

3.4.1 When the Fund invests in the units of other CIS that are managed, directly or by delegation, by the Investment Manager of the Company or by any other company with which the Investment Manager of the Company is linked by common management or control, or by a substantial direct or indirect holding, that the Investment Manager or other company may not charge subscription, conversion or redemption fees on account of the Fund's investment in the units of such other CIS.

3.4.2 Where a commission (including a rebated commission) is received by the Fund Investment Manager by virtue of an investment in the units of another CIS, this commission must be paid into the property of the Fund.

In accordance with the requirements of the Central Bank, the Fund will apply for a derogation from some of the investment restrictions for six months following the date of the first issue of Shares of the Fund pursuant to the Regulations but will observe the principle of risk-spreading. Please refer to the section 5.5 of Appendix I of the Prospectus for further details.

3.5 Profile of a Typical Investor

A typical investor will be seeking to achieve a return on their investment in the medium to long term.

3.6 Risk Factors

Investors should read and consider the section of the Prospectus entitled "Risk Factors" before investing in the Fund. However, not all of the risks disclosed in the Risk Factors section of the Prospectus will be material to an investment in this particular Fund.

In addition to the above referenced risks, investors should also consider the particular implications of the following risks that are relevant to an investment in the Fund:

- (a) The Investment Manager seeks to constantly review the CIS in which the Fund may invest. However, investment decisions are made independently at the level of the underlying CIS and are solely subject to the restrictions applicable to those underlying CIS. The Investment Manager or the Depositary are not liable for compliance with such restrictions.
- (b) It is possible that some investment managers of the underlying CIS will take positions in the same security or in issues of the same industry or country or in the same currency at the same time. Consequently, it is possible that one CIS may purchase an instrument at the same time as another CIS decides to sell it. There is no guarantee that the selection of the underlying CIS will actually result in diversification of investment styles and that the positions taken by the underlying CIS will always be consistent.
- (c) Fees and expenses of the Fund may be charged to the capital of the Fund. Thus, on redemptions of holdings shareholders may not receive back the full amount invested and this will have the effect of lowering the capital value of their investment. There is a greater risk therefore that capital may be eroded and "income" will be achieved by foregoing the potential for future capital growth of your investment and the value of future returns may also be diminished. Investors should note however that distributions made during the life of the Fund are a form of capital reimbursement. The Fund may charge fees and expenses to capital to preserve income and to maximise the payment of dividends to Shareholders.

The risks described in the Prospectus and this Supplement should not be considered to be an exhaustive list of the risks which potential investors should consider before investing in the Fund. Potential investors should be aware that an investment in the Fund may be exposed to other risks from time to time.

3.7 Key Information for Buying and Selling Shares

Details of all share classes are set out in the table below.

The Investment Manager may reject at its discretion any application for Shares in the Fund and may also, at its discretion, redesignate/switch a Shareholder from one Class to another in circumstances where the Shareholder no longer belongs to the category of investors to which that Class is available. The Investment Manager will not charge fees for redesignation/switching undertaken in such circumstances.
